SIXTEEN YEARS IN BIG LEAGUES PLANK'S RECORD

Ed is Now Pitching for Federals and Going Better Than Ever Before.

By Frank G. Menke.
NEW YORK, July 28.—Eddie Plank deserves the title of the "greatest left handed pitcher" that ever lived.
For 15 years—1901 to 1914—the wonderful southpaw was the Mackinac mainstay. For 15 years he pitched the kind of baseball that helped the Athletics to win a large flock of pennants and a number of world championship titles.
And now, in his 41st year, and his 16th in baseball, he is the pitching sensation of the Federal league. Cast adrift by his old boss, he connected with a job in the new league and is back at his old trick of rolling up a huge winning percentage.
The most amazing part of Plank's work this year is the fact that he is pitching to batters who are new to him. He hasn't the benefit of the experience gained in other years to aid him. He doesn't know the strength and the weakness of the batters who face him, as he did in the American league. He must learn as he goes. He must put the old southpaw whip, absolutely unaided, against the Federal league clouters. And he has done so successfully.
Plank is one of the very few left handers who has no eccentricities. He has been normal in his conduct, a gentleman on the ball field and off, and all through the 16 years of his major league career he has graced the game by his presence.

The last of the Delehanthys has passed from major league view, and for the first time in nearly 25 years no member of the famous baseball family is listed among the big league stars.
There were five Delehanthys brothers, all of them trained on the sand lots of Cleveland, and every one of the five found his way into the big show, remaining there long enough to add lustre to the baseball fame of the family.

Ed Delehanthys was the first brother to enter the big leagues. He blossomed into a major league star in the late 1880s, and from then on until 1903, when he met a tragic death by falling from a bridge, he ranked as one of the greatest batters in the game ever produced. He hung up clouting records that remain to this day.

Tom was the second brother to play major league baseball. Something like 15 years ago, a short time before the death of Ed, he landed on the Cleveland team and played a fine game.
Joe Delehanthys was the third. He played with St. Louis for a number of years. Jim was the fourth brother to enter the big leagues, and Jim lasted a long time as a major leaguer. He was a star with the Detroit Tigers for many years, and ranked as one of the best infielders in the business. In 1914 Jim jumped to the Reds. The other day he was released to the Colonial league, the minor organization of the Reds.

Plank was the fifth Delehanthys brother to play in the majors. He was with Cleveland for a time and later played with the Yankees.

And now there are no more Delehanthys. The last has passed beyond the big league horizon and the name that once was the most famous in baseball is but a memory.

Oldfield and Resta to Settle 100 Mile Supremacy

CHICAGO, July 25.—That Barney Oldfield and Dario Resta, considered the two greatest auto racing drivers of the age, may settle their little differences in a 100-mile match race on the Maywood speedway on Aug. 7, now seems probable. Oldfield has sent an open challenge to Resta, following his tryout of the Delage car, presented to him by D. G. Joyce. It is thought that Resta will accept the challenge.
